Night Lights Screen Saver

For centuries, astronomers and astronauts have made use of the night sky to see and measure the planets, stars, and constellations. Over time, as astronomers have learned more about these objects, they have collected more data. This collected data is usually referred to as the night sky. Night sky collectors who have seen and used all this data have agreed on a scheme to illustrate the night sky. The map provided in Night Lights is a composite night sky image that is very similar to what you would see with the naked eye on a clear night. The colors of the lights are a result of the wavelengths of light used to illuminate the world, white light being the most common. These colors represent these different wavelengths of light. Because certain colors of light are not visible to the naked eye, the blue is actually a combination of other colors of light. The contrast of the colors is adjusted to accurately represent what you would see if you were looking up at the sky in the night. The color scheme we used is the most accurate representation of what would be seen. No color correction has been done to the visible colors displayed in Night Lights. What's New In Night Lights Screen Saver?

Night Lights is an amazing screensaver that will show a rotating representation of the Earth displaying city lights during night time. City lights are displayed by any and all light sources on Earth. These could be cities, towns, streets, roads, agricultural areas, refineries, hydroelectric dams, military installations, light posts, parking lots, airports, districts, urban areas, any place that has a streetlight. This screen saver features a rotating planet. Use the optional Planet Speed control to set the planet spin speed and use the optional Planet Rotate left or right to rotate the planet. The Planet Clock control is set to match the displayed time, or view the day/night cycle. Animated lights are added in post-production for a more realistic look. The Night Lights screensaver is added to the Windows Desktop Calendar as a daily alarm clock. So if you are a city slicker, this screensaver will let you know when it is bedtime and time to get some rest. The Planet Speed, Planet Rotate Left, and Planet Rotate Right controls are accessed through the buttons on the bottom right of the screen. Please see the 2-D Control Panel below for more info. Standard Controls: - Off - Do nothing. - Night Lights - Show the Night Lights screen saver. - Planet Clock - Display the current time. - Planet Speed - Control how fast the planet spins. - Planet Rotate Left - Control how the planet rotates left. - Planet Rotate Right - Control how the planet rotates right. - Night Lights Toggle - Toggle the display of city lights. - Random Toggle - Toggle the display of city lights when installed as a desktop calendar alarm clock. - Sleep - Put the screen saver to sleep. This will stop the screen saver from running. - Graphical Timers - Add a graphical timer to the bottom right of the screen, starting with the day/night cycle. The Clock in the Clock is used for the daytime display. The Clock in the Clock is set to the time shown in the Day/Night control on the main control panel. The Day/Night control will then display the current time for the day or night at the top right of the screen. This will then cycle in the order of the Day/Night control. - Wake Up - Wake up at the specified time. - Timer - Start a timed alert. - Alarm - Scheduled alarm.
