

TVBoxPlus [Mac/Win] [Latest]

An easy-to-use VNC viewer. Works with all Windows VNC Servers. Includes a schedule. An elegant and easy-to-use remote desktop application. Enjoy live TV from any place on the planet. Real-time channel guide with extensive search capabilities. Discover and enjoy thousands of programs of free and premium content of TV channels, radio stations, and music. TubeSeriesPlayer (also known as TubeChannelPlayer) is a channel guide software for Windows which is useful in watching TV channels as well as radio channels from your area. You can view any of your favorite channels, even through a slow connection. It supports DVR and live feeds for this reason. TVBoard is a VNC client and server for computers with multiple monitors. It allows you to remotely log into another computer and control its graphical environment. TVBoard is released under the GNU General Public License (GPL). TVBoard comes with a full GUI for entering the settings and connecting to remote hosts. However, a simple text configuration file allows you to avoid installing the GUI. LanView will display the contents of your harddisk as a television screen. All you need is to load an image file on one of your harddisk sectors. LanView then calculates the time you need to access your sectors, via the direct access method, and displays the contents on the image. After that, it scans the image and detects the floor plan of each sector; based on the floor plan and address of the sector, it will display the contents of the sector. This function of LanView enables you to bring back your lost pictures, which may be detected under a certain floor plan. DesktopTV is a free tool for streaming video from your PC to your TV or set-top box. It is based on a combination of the RTSP server and the VNC server. The VNC server allows you to access the PC screen remotely using a VNC client. The RTSP server will stream your desktop over the internet to your PC. The VNC client acts as a remote control, allowing you to select the source for the stream. The stream is generated by the DesktopTV application. A Bitstream VNC Client is a VNC viewer for Windows OS. It uses only BitStream's dynamic compression (BitStream H.264) codec to compress and decompress the VNC stream. If the local machine has Bitstream's H.264 codec installed, it will use it to compress and decompress the data. This
