Q: Reference a table in another table Table: 1 +-----+ | CountryCode | +-----+ | 1 | | 2 | +-----+ Table: 2 +-----+ +-----+ | Code1 | Code2 | +-----+ +-----+ | 1 | 2 | | 3 | 4 | +-----+ +-----+ I have a table of countries and another table of codes. I have to get all countries with codes that are contained in the table of countries. Any ideas? A: One way of accomplishing this is via a cross join and left join (in that order). select * from table1 as a cross join table2 as b where b.code = a.countrycode The benefit of doing it this way, is that you don't have to worry about different formatting of data as you would if you were just querying the first table.
