. . ."If the borda of the whole world is an ice floe, 1,' Vallejo posited in one of his essays, "If the borda of the whole world is an ice floe, this is the first moment of a world-wide literature, the day when the new thing in life begin d to appear. In every age, an ice floe is merely a uniformization of the surface which the cold brings to expression; and it is the life which is going to be written to penetrate further into the quicksand of the people around us, that of our own day." Romancing the Ice (Kunst und Musik) is a documentary film, directed by Thomas Alsleben, about the European artists and composers who for almost a century have tried to push the boundaries of what is possible in terms of visual and musical expression of ice. Kunst und Musik was selected as the German entry for the Best Foreign Language Film at the 72nd Academy Awards, but it was not nominated. . . . The film won the 2012 Sundance Film Festival's audience award and was the film in the 2012 International Documentary Association's National Doc Contest. 'The creators of Ice on board for the first time'. The film is released on DVD and Blu-Ray on January 22, 2013 in Germany by Kultur International TV. . .
