First Thoughts on Photoshop Elements and Graphics Editors The first version of Photoshop appeared in 1987 when Apple created a program for digital photographs and graphics. Soon after Photoshop was released, freelance photographers demanded their own graphics editor with many of the same features as Photoshop. Adobe Photoshop Elements was created as a free version of Photoshop to provide an alternative program to photographers who were loyal to Adobe. Photoshop Elements is a perfectly suitable software to use if you want to create flyers, web graphics or photographs. It is also an excellent tool for a teacher to use with her students. Compound of three quadrilaterals In geometry, the compound of three quadrilaterals is the configuration formed by rigid-body motions of four arbitrary quadrilateral figures on a plane. Two motions are required to describe the location of a fourth figure; the motions of two figures together describe the location of the third. Zinc oxide nanorods functionalized with metallothionein peptides: improved cataract prevention in vitro and in vivo. ZnO nanorods functionalized with the nine amino acid segment of metallothionein were prepared and investigated for their potential to prevent cataract formation. Zinc oxide (ZnO) nanorods were functionalized by heterologous expression of the 35 amino acid segment of metallothionein into Pichia pastoris as a bifunctional linker between a cell-binding ligand (RGD) and a synthetic peptide, [C-Cys-Cys-Cys-Cys-Cys-His-Cys-Cys-Tyr-Cys] (THT-9), which binds to the Uveal scleral-side of the lens. Peptide-functionalized nanorods were analyzed by electron microscopy and differential scanning calorimetry, which demonstrated that the addition of the peptide to the ZnO nanorods enhanced the thermal stability of the nanorods by 3.4°C relative to bare ZnO. The stability of the functionalized nanorods increased after exposure to rabbit serum. In the brine shrimp test, the peptide-functionalized nanorods were more stable than bare ZnO. In a lens capsular bag model, the THT-9 peptide-functionalized nanorods showed a strong inhibitory effect on the formation of proteinaceous cataracts in vitro. This study also demonstrated that THT-9 peptide-functionalized nanorods reduced the incidence of cataract formation when compared with bare nanorods and nanorods functionalized with the other peptides. Histological analysis demonstrated that the THT-9 peptide-functionalized nanorods significantly inhibited the accumulation of amorphous and protein-crystalline cataracts, as observed in the lens capsule during the development of proteinaceous cataracts in vitro and in vivo. The THT-9 peptide was also found to be effective in preventing the early appearance of protein-crystalline cataracts in vivo, once more demonstrating that the peptide targets the lens capsule side of the lens, which is known as a major site of cataract formation.name=Determination image= value
