Applying Quick Fixes One of the features of Photoshop Elements, which is missing in Pixelmator, is the quick fixes panel. After you make an image, just press Ctrl + 1 or Ctrl + 2 to get to the quick fixes panel. You can get to the quick fixes panel directly by pressing Alt + F1 (Windows) or ⌘ + F1 (Mac). You can use the quick fixes panel in two ways. To edit the color settings Let's say you want to reduce the color intensity of the image. You simply click on the color box and decrease the transparency value from 0 to 100. Here are the steps for this process: Select an area of the image and hit Ctrl + U or Command + U to open the quick fixes panel. Go to the Enhance tab. Then open the Enhance Color dialog by clicking on the Color button (the color box). Click on the Hue slider to set the color. The other sliders will give you the color balance. Finally, click on the OK button to finish. To apply a preset filter After your image is ready, you can apply an existing preset filter to make it more interesting. A filter creates new colors by using the colors in an existing image. To apply a preset filter, go to the Filters category in the menu, then choose "Filter Gallery." In the Filter Gallery, choose your favorite preset from the presets box on the right side. The preset box will be highlighted when you select one. To apply a preset filter, click on the Apply button next to the preset box. You can edit any of the settings. For example, you can change the color balance of 05a79ceeff
