Life He was the eldest son of Thomas Cheere of Wrea, Lancashire, by his wife Jane Aytoun. On 10 June 1681 Cheere was admitted, aged twenty, as a freeman of Manchester. His grandfather, Henry Cheere, had bought the manor of Sowerby Bridge in 1613, and built a mansion at Sowerby Castle, situated on a ridge north of Bolton. Cheere's father, Thomas, and both of his grandfathers had been High Sheriffs of Lancashire. Thomas Cheere died in 1684, and on 8 June 1686 his two sons, John and Henry, were made his executors. Cheere inherited the castle in 1686. The Sowerby estate was a large one, having been extended by Thomas Cheere (his grandfather) from his purchase in 1613. Cheere lived at Sowerby Castle till 1726, when it was sold by the trustees to Sir Edward Feilding, for the price of £9,500. In his own time, and after his death, Cheere was the owner of a great many estates in Lancashire and Cheshire. A distinct class of landowning families sprang up around Sowerby, which continued to trade on the line between the Stanley and Middleton estates, at Woodall, Sowerby, through many generations. Woodall estate is more a product of the Cheere connection than either of its founders, although the junior line was still in existence in the second half of the 18th century

It's too cold and snowy. I don't like the dark nights and it's when my arthritis is at its worst. I do like the last weekend in December though. Hopefully this year isn't all about the holidays, too. Wishing you and yours a wonderful 2019. :-)

Isochrone software for 2D maps and 3D contour maps. Software is used to generate isochrones in 3D or 2D maps. Isochrone generates isochrones for environmental data (e. g. flood risk assessment, land use, land cover, water bodies, topographical data etc) and other spatial data (e. g. roads, nodes, buildings, etc). Software contains features such as map enabler, creation of a water mask, integration in other software, state of the art data visualization and archiving. In addition to isochrone generation. Software can perform the following functions:
Percutaneous valve deployment: an alternative technique for percutaneous mitral valve interventions. We describe a simple and clinically practical technique of percutaneous mitral valve repair using the self-expanding valve delivery system (Percutaneous Valve Deployment, PVAD, Evolut R, Medtronic, Minneapolis, MN, USA). This technique allows rapid and secure percutaneous delivery of an aortic PVAD with a steerable sheath to facilitate exact positioning of the stent-valve within the mitral annulus. The technique has been successfully used in both acute and urgent settings.
Q: Laravel 5 session middleware - get current session id in custom middleware I'm trying to set up a custom middleware in Laravel 5.5 to log user activities to a third party system. What I need is the session ID of the user in my middleware. Here is what I did so far, but it doesn't work. I'm guessing that since I already have access to the $request object, it overwrites the session ID. Here is the code, I'm using the default "SessionAuthenticator" middleware. request = $request; } /** * Handle an incoming request. * * @param Illuminate\Http\Request $request *
